

Kirk Wilson Joins Broadhaven As Partner

New York, NY, October 1, 2018 – Broadhaven Capital Partners (“Broadhaven”), a leading independent investment bank serving the financial services sector, announced today that Kirk Wilson has joined the firm as a Partner.

Mr. Wilson was most recently a Managing Director with Greenhill & Co. covering financial services.

Previously, Kirk spent over 25 years at Morgan Stanley where he was Vice Chairman of Morgan Stanley's Investment Banking Division. Mr. Wilson was a senior member of Morgan Stanley's Financial Institutions Group and previously headed both the Global Commercial Bank and US Bank Groups.

His expertise spans a broad range of financial sectors: commercial banking, financial technology, asset management and specialty finance. Over the course of his career, Kirk has advised on billions of dollars in financings and M&A transactions, including many of the largest bank mergers that created a number of the leading global financial institutions today.

“Kirk’s diverse transaction experience and long-standing industry relationships will make him an invaluable resource to our clients,” said Broadhaven co-founder Jerry von Dohlen. “His presence will reinforce Broadhaven’s position as the leading independent advisor in the financial services sector. We are pleased and fortunate to have him join our team.”

“It is a privilege to join such a talented team of Partners, many of whom I’ve worked with or competed against for many years,” said Mr. Wilson. “Working with the Broadhaven team, I am confident we will provide differentiated advice to clients and help them achieve their financial and strategic objectives.”
